Collafix is a syrup that enriched with collagen, hyaluronic acid, vitamins and minerals specifically formulated to be very effective in small doses and produce immediate benefits in the joints, skin, cartilage, hair, nails, tendons, bones and the vitreous humor of the eye.

Collagen is the most abundant protein in your body, accounting for about one-third of its protein composition. Studies have shown that as you age, your body produces less and lower quality collagen. Collagen is a source of eight essential amino acids and is the main component of cartilage, ligaments and tendons. It is also the main protein in the composition of bones and teeth. It increases joint mobility, improves elasticity and skin's moisture, it contributes to minimizing wrinkles and expression lines, and strengthens hair and nails.
